H. GUIDELINES FOR COMPLETION OF THE PERMIT TO PRACTICE APPLICATION FORM.

It is a requirement of PEG that its members not practice in areas or disciplines of engineering or geoscience for which they do not have the necessary academic training and experience.

Some members and licensees have, through a combination of continuing training and experience, acquired the additional skills needed to practice in an area or discipline other than that for which they were initially trained. The Board will consider that Permits covering these additional areas or disciplines be issued only upon full substantiation and documentation of the necessary training and experience. The Board will grant Permits to Practice to firms based on demonstration of current practical experience by the person accepting responsibility for the discipline

DISCIPLINE(S)

The table of disciplines (following page) is used to identify Primary disciplines for which the Permits to Practice may be granted. Applicants requesting Permits for the sub-disciplines will generally be evaluated against the Primary discipline. Permits will not generally be granted for sub-disciplines.

I. PROFESSIONAL LIABILITY INSURANCE

In accordance with the Engineers and Geoscientists Act 2008, section 12. (3), all permit holders must carry professional liability insurance. Before we may grant a permit, PEGNL By-Law No. 2 requires that you supply proof of your company's insurance coverage (insurance certificate required). By-Law No. 2 (available on www.pegnl.ca) prescribes the requirements for satisfactory proof of insurance.

- J. In order to be granted a Permit to Practice, an Organization must have one or more full-time employees, (see guidelines) who hold professional registration to practice Engineering/Geoscience in Newfoundland and Labrador in each discipline for which the permit is being requested.
